Library Service Course Offered

A course in School Library Service has been included in the curriculum for the first time this summer under the direction of Miss Bernice Martin, professional librarian for the Omaha public schools.

The course is planned to give the students a thorough acquaintance with the problems of organizing and maintaining an effective library service in the modern elementary school.

Some of the topics dealt with are: systems of classification; the relation of the librarian to the administrative officers, faculty, and students; the training and supervision of assistants; and the planning of the school library quarters and equipment.

Have Profs Ability? Students Hand In Answer This Week

In anticipation for next week's exams, the administration administered a mild antidote to students Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week allowing them to grade their professors according to their ability to teach their courses.

Students were given a blank which asked them to rate their professors according to five classifications on ten points. The classifications were: excellent, good, average, poor, and very poor.

The ten points professors were graded on were: Preparation for class, interest and enthusiasm in his subject, ability to arouse interest in students, organization of course, ability to express thought to stimulate student thinking and stimulate class discussion, sense of proportion as revealed by emphasis on course, sense of humor, and self-confidence.

Annual Out Today; Prexy Gets Copy

"The Municipal University 1936 annual will be out Friday morning at about 10 o'clock," stated Gerald Gross, business manager.

President Haynes will receive a special copy at the assembly this morning.

Ellen Hartman is editor, and Lewis Leigh is circulation manager of the "Tomahawk," which is the name of the publication.

Elementary Teachers, Undergrads Benefit By Courses Offered

THREE SESSIONS

Three sessions will be offered by Omaha University in the 1936 Summer School, it was announced by Mr. E. M. Hosman, director of extension. There will be two short sessions of two and three weeks in length and the "long" or regular session of six weeks.

The Intercession begins on May 18, and will continue until June 5. At that time registration for the regular session will begin, and classes will meet from June 8 until July 17. A University Unit course, of special interest to principals and teachers in elementary schools, will run for two weeks, from June 8 to June 19.

Elementary Methods Course

The Intercession is a course in elementary school methods, special emphasis being laid on organization, equipment, and special techniques in primary school systems. The University Unit course, "The Technique of the Elementary Principalship," is an intensive treatment of the problems in administration of the elementary school. Regular college courses will be offered in the "long" session, among them the "Introduction to the Humanities," required of all entering students.

More recently, Mr. Hosman announced that a new summer School course for those interested in art has been arranged for. The course, "Technical Problems and the Teaching of Art," will last from June 8 to June 19.

Summer School this year will attract many new groups to the campus from Nebraska and Iowa, it is anticipated. Teachers and those working for teaching certificates will form a large part of the enrollment, in the technical courses. An increase in freshmen enrollment is also looked forward to, as high school graduates will no doubt be glad to take advantage of the Humanities course in Summer School, which will cut off five hours each week from their required study load in the fall.

Humanities Courses Placed in Summer Session To Give Freshmen Chance to Lighten Fall Load

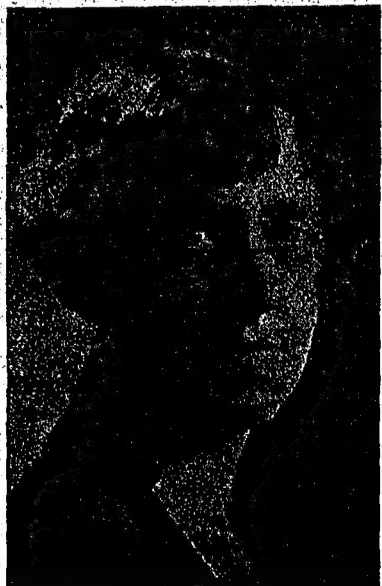

A break from past procedure will give high school graduates who intend to enroll at the University of Omaha the opportunity to take more time for elective courses or outside interests next fall. By signing up for the Introduction to the Humanities course or in fact an equal number of hours in other courses, in the 1936 Summer School, these students may cut five hours each week from their required study load in September.

discussion periods, and two personal conferences each week. There are also library readings. The student-professor conference is a valuable feature of this course. The conferences are individual in character and are conducted so that the student will learn to love the delightful informality which characterizes an effective college program.

There will be Humanities classes daily in Room 20, from 8 to 10 and 11 to 12 a. m. Tuition

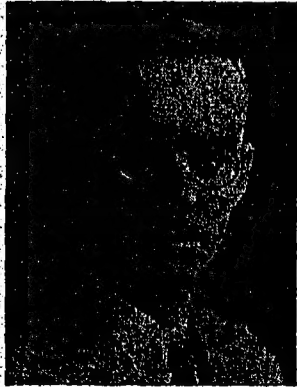

He will be assisted by Professor Martin Bush, F. A. G. O., head of our department of music; Professor Gertrude Kincaide, acting head of the department of foreign languages; Professor Morton Prentice Wells, Ph. D., head of the department of English, Trinity College; and Professor Paul Grumann, director of Joslyn Memorial, and Joslyn Professor of Fine Arts.

The special arrangements of this course will permit the student to arrange part time employment, a wider range of elective courses, shorten the time required for graduation, and have more time for outside activities.

than Omaha University will find that the 1936 summer school here will cut their required study load at the other institutions also. Since University of Omaha credits are accepted by practically all first-class American universities, students who take standard courses in our summer sessions may feel secure that advancement in other colleges is certain.

SUMMER SESSION AIDS STUDENTS

When the University adopted the new plan, the requirements for graduation were greatly simplified. A student had only to take the three introductory courses, together with two regular sophomore courses which lay in any two of the three fields covered by the introductory courses, learn to read a foreign language, and learn to write English. These were the degree requirements under the new plan. The major requirements were unchanged.

However, while the contract of the regular student was greatly simplified, the special student found a new obstacle placed in his way. The three introductory courses were required for graduation, yet many special students could not take them, since they were doing nearly all of their work in evening classes or in the summer school.

This year the administration announces that the Introduction to the Humanities, one of the three introductory courses, will be offered in the summer session, thus meeting the need of a number of special students.

Two other groups of people will find the Humanities a useful course to take during the summer. Young men and women who have just completed their high school training and contemplate entering the University of Omaha in the fall, can take one of the three required courses this summer. Thus they can be free to carry a ten-credit study load next fall and still leave them free to secure work without imperiling the quality of their education.

Men and women who are not candidates for a degree, but who wish to enlarge their cultural sophistication, can well choose the Humanities to gratify that wish, for the Humanities offers a historical survey of literature, both English and foreign, philosophy, and the arts, fused into a coherent and dramatic picture view of life, which has animated each of a number of societies from which we have drawn our culture.

OUR TENNIS AND GOLF TEAMS

In spite of Coach Hartman's assurances that he is vitally interested in minor sports, we feel that it is definitely his fault that there is no tennis or golf team at the University this year.

Perhaps he is interested, but no action has followed this interest. Pairings for the tournament, which is still uncompleted, weren't posted until the week of April 27. Even if the tournament could have been forced through that week there would still have been only three weeks for meets with other schools.

Thru The Keyhole

We had a crack in here about Johnny Pearson's hair....but it's been cut....We understand that the furniture in Poverty Flats has to be nailed down....to prevent the bed-bugs from walking off with it.

For Kozak's information, he had Lucille Kelly, an illustrious alumnus, in tow....we were afraid that he might not remember....It seemed that Knipprath was too happy to work, so he lent his presence to the Ma-le Day dance....Anyone wishing to learn the private lives of the staff has but to read the choice bits written on the walls of The Gateway office.

Poor Bob Lehmer....How our deepest sympathies go out to him....Elmer Johnson is now going steady, and very much in love....To disillusion him more, the news has just hit this office that Marge Corrington is also hitched up in serious fashion....(He goes to Central High).

If anyone happens to run into Jerry Gross next week, please tell him to come back to school, for the semester is now over, and final examinations are now in progress.

Blimp Blount is probably the largest bulk of humanity that is able to walk around the campus, if the 260 pound report in last week's "rag" is true....Speaking of athletes, Leo Pearey was seen leaving Peony after the Ma-le Day dance with the president of the Sig Chi's....We didn't mention the show on a Saturday evening, but this is at least the second time during the last month they have been together....Better make a thorough check-up, Johnnie.

Can anyone help The Gateway office by telling us who the little blonde Venus was that Troy Woerner has been driving around this week?....We would like to suggest that someone put Mildred wise to such conduct.

Betty Arnold finally made the grade and had a date with Leonard Kurtz last Saturday evening.

Lois Medlock is another fair maiden with a broken heart....Freshman day a photographer from one of the newspapers came out to Fontenelle Park and took her picture while she was being tossed into the lagoon....To top it all off, the picture didn't even appear, and there was Lois, all wet.

Rosemarie Mashek proved herself nothing more than a publicity seeker last week when she appeared in The Gateway office and tried her best to get her name in this column....If you'll remember, she is always the first to squawk, but also the first to tell us anything she does that is out of the way.

We would like to ask if there is anyone about the campus who hasn't heard about "Tip" Tyler and Norma's trip to Glenwood?....

Well, this is all of the dirt for this semester.... We wanted to put a remark in here that Harriet Salmon said the other day, but, unfortunately, we have censors on the staff who just can't take a joke....See you next fall with more filth than ever.

Lectures on Psychology

By FRAN NELSON

The mind is a very remarkable thing—it is not as simple as it sounds, being of a complex nature. The first thing to remember is that all minds are not alike. If you remember this you have learned the fundamental concept of psychology. I must impress upon your mind this precept—all minds are different, except in the case of identical twins, and their minds are different, too.

The amateur psychologist is apt to make the mistake of believing that people cannot get along without minds, and contrary to popular opinion this is true, except in some cases.

I hope this definitely proves any preconceived notions you may have had, are false.

games with Omaha University, yet not one meet was scheduled.

In past years, students would have taken it upon themselves to arrange practices and meets. Even an over-worked athletic director should have been able to give the students interested and capable of participating in teams, the opportunity of playing a few games.

They would have been satisfied with only one, but no action rather creates harsh impressions.

Betrayed Administration Repairs
Gateway Wall-holes With Cement

By HAROLD CLARK

It will be remembered, we hope, that in the April Fool Edition we announced that the Gateway would have a new home—going into some detail to describe the splendor of the new edifice. No doubt the majority of our readers (?) thought we were being facetious when we made this announcement—we have even heard it said that it was an out-and-out lie.

Well, maybe we did stray from the paths of the righteous in making this statement, but we have been vindicated to a certain extent; our spacious office has undergone a remodeling, in that we can now boast of a brand-new cement patch on the wall.

In years gone by, staff members have seemed imbued with a certain amount of excess energy, which, we are sorry to say, was wasted by tearing the plaster off the walls, not all at once, but bit by bit, until, lo and behold! There was no more left.

We have also heard that this vandalism was perpetrated by harassed editors, who were wont to throw an occasional fit (the prerogative of all editors) and beat their pates upon the walls, thus causing considerable damage—to the wall.

We do not know which of the above rumors are correct, but it makes no difference, for these goings on are now a thing of the past. The damage has been repaired, not with plaster, but with cold, hard cement, and woe be to the individual who attacks this buttress, even though that person is a hard-headed, two-fisted editor—or reporter.

May we close with this quotation from the classics? "Stone walls do not a Gateway make, but they help."

RING DEM BELLES!

From the appearance of the above, we judge that both Wednesday bells and diplomas are "breaking up that old gang of ours." (Note the sparkler). From the frying pan into the fire, we call it. (Drawing by Maxine Sunderman, Gateway artist.)

Plan Director Has Held Many Jobs

J. E. Woods, Work-Study Plan director, is a man quite capable of advising students on the acquiring of jobs. In fact he might easily claim the title of the "Man Who Has Held the Most Jobs."

He has been boiler firer, high school principal, farm evaluator, purchaser of municipal bonds, seller of road-grading equipment, English teacher in the Philippines, life insurance salesman, relief administrator in Lincoln, and then to Omaha as the Work-Study director.

He learned the Spanish he knows from Louisa Alvarez, a Spanish senorita, who taught at the same school he did in the Philippines. Mr. Woods was forced to leave the islands because he lost his hearing from the damp climate.

Mr. Woods is enthusiastic relative to the new co-operate plan, and expressed pleasure at the splendid co-operation of Omaha firms.

W.A.A. Holds H. S. Play Day

The annual Play Day for all local high schools will be held under the auspices of the Omaha University W. A. A., Saturday, May 23, at Jacobs' Hall, at 8:00 a. m.

The high schools that have been invited are Technical, North, Central, South, Benson, Holy Name, St. Joseph, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Duchesne Brownell, and Blair.

The play day will be a States' Play Day. The different teams will be named for different states. Each team will have a hostess, who will take her group to each of the following activities at specified times—baseball, shuffle-board, ping-pong, relays, and Nebraska ball. Lunch will be served at 1 p. m. The activities will be held both on the campus and at Kountze Park.

Flags of each team's state will designate the luncheon tables of the various groups.

Green Table and Rhapsody in Blue will be presented by the Orchestral Group. Amy Rohacek, Evelyn Clough and Dorothy Peters will also be featured on the program.

Miss Phyllis Knudsen, '38, is general chairman and her committee chairmen are: Elinor Johnson, '37, hostesses; Ellen Forehead, '37, refreshments; Helen Saltares, '38, sports; Clara Williamson, '38, decorations; Betty Young, '39, program, and Laura Buchland, '37, registration.

Miss Knudsen Heads Girl Sports Group

The new officers of the W. A. A. for the 1936-37 year were announced at a picnic held at Fontenelle Park, Monday, May 18. Baseball and folk dances made up the entertainment before the luncheon. Box lunches were served and the outgoing president, Hortense Geislar, made a short talk on the activities of the year.

As the luncheon neared its end, the new officers were announced as follows: president, Phyllis Knudsen, '38; vice-president, Helen Saltares, '38; secretary, Eloise Johnson, '38; and treasurer, Dolly Obradovich, '37. The picnic closed with the presentation of Elbert Hubbard's Scrap Book to Hortense Geislar.

Enrollment Urged

"Enroll in the 1936 Summer School," says Mr. J. E. Woods, director of the Omaha University work-study plan.

In order to complete the regular four-year course in five years, work-study students will need to carry six hours of work in summer school, and those who intend to sign-up for jobs will find that attending the 1936 summer session will do much to cut their future study load.

Students who aspire to work-study jobs are urged to see Mr. Woods prior to enrolling.

FOOTBALL GAME SCHEDULE READY

Two New Schools Play Cards: Ia. Teachers, South Dakota State

By "DUTCH" HESLER

Seven of the eight football games for next fall have been scheduled. There will be two new Omaha University opponents in the schedule, according to Athletic Director Sed Hartman.

De Paul University of Chicago will again play the Cardinals, after an absence of two years. Omaha University will journey to Chicago on November 24 to repay the Chicago lads for the defeats they handed us in 1932 by a score of 34 to 6, and again in 1933 by a score of 19 to 0.

South Dakota State College and Iowa State Teachers' College will appear for the first time on an Omaha University schedule this fall.

Sed Hartman is still corresponding for the eighth and last game of the schedule. The present schedule will have four home games and three out of town trips for the Redbirds.

Omaha University will open their schedule early this fall when they meet North Dakota State, defending champions of the North Central Conference at Fargo, North Dakota, on September 18. The first four games will take place under the lights.

The eighth game of the schedule is expected to be announced before the closing of school.

The schedule:
Sept. 18—North Dakota State at Fargo.
Sept. 26—Morningside College at Sioux City.
Oct. 2—Wayne Teachers, here.
Oct. 16—South Dakota State, here.

Dr. Wells To Teach In Summer School

One of the latest members to be added to the summer school faculty is Dr. Mitchell Preston Wells, professor of English from Trinity College at Waxahachie, Texas. Dr. Wells received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of South Carolina and his Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of North Carolina.

Courses to be taught by Dr. Wells are American Prose, Development of the Drama, and Shakespeare. Dr. Wells' excellent credentials indicate that he will be a superior teacher, according to E. M. Hosman, director of summer school.

Baker to Work Toward Degree

Johnny Baker, Omaha University's popular basketball and line coach, will leave some time tomorrow for Los Angeles, where he will attend summer school at the University of Southern California, his Alma Mater. Baker has majored in physical education, but he is returning for his master's degree. He will be accompanied by his wife. They expect to return some time in the early part of August.

Baker has been very successful in his first year of Cardinal coaching. His linemen have been taught the U. S. C. style of offensive and defensive play, which has proven very effective.

While in California Baker will work on the motion picture lots.

Senior Athletes Graduating

By GEORGE THREADGILL

In continuing the story on senior sport stars, we find next in line a man who has proven himself a star scholar as well as a grid-man.

You can't help but know him, for he has been a leader in nearly all social activities during his four years at the University of Omaha. He has majored in history and will receive his bachelor's degree this June. He has had charge of two very successful Made days and credit goes to him for the successful "O" Club dance given this spring. His name I need not tell you, but it's Howard Sorensen.

Howard stands about six feet three inches and weighs two hundred and ten pounds. He has been selected on the N. I. A. A. conference team three successive years at right tackle, and has won honors in the same conference and the N. C. conference by throwing the discus and shot put for Sed Hartman's track team.

As president of the "O" Club he is responsible for the fine organization of the letter men of our school.

Graduation will take another school leader this June when Kenneth Turner receives his degree. Turner's activities on the student council, as well as on the grid-iron, will be greatly missed. He has been student council president, has lettered four times in football as a halfback, and his scholastic standing has always been high above the average.

Another loss to the Cardinal football and basketball roster will be a man named Nelson. Bill has been prominent in athletics at Omaha the past four years and has also been very active in social work. Nelson is a member of the Pan-Hellenic council and past president of the Phi Sigma Phi fraternity.

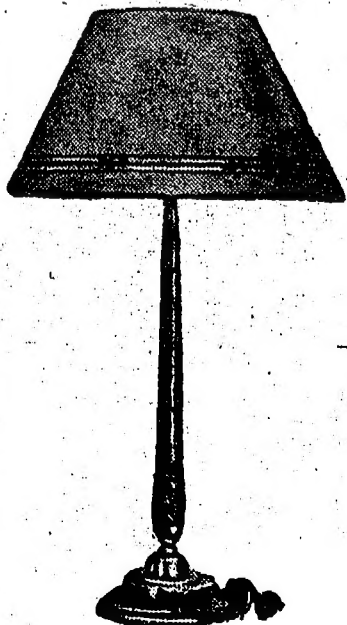

Last, but not least, is a boy who never played any football until he came to Omaha University four years ago. This fact is unusual for most boys playing on the Cardinal football team. But Loren (Bosco) Gammon decided he wanted to play football and reported to Coach Hartman for practice. Gammon developed very rapidly and proved his worth on the team by earning two letters. Gammon is a superior scholar and is majoring in history, which he will teach next year.

This special edition of The Gateway is being mailed to 1,200 high school seniors in Omaha and Council Bluffs through the co-operation of The Gateway and the University Extension Department.

Storm Damage Here Is $100

The University campus suffered damage from the sudden wind and hail storm last Sunday estimated at $100 by Bursar L. D. Crenshaw.

The cost includes the replacement of broken windows, replating of the roof of the Men's Faculty Building and the removal of broken branches and debris from the campus.

A maple tree on the main campus was snapped in two by the 86-mile gale. Examination showed that it had been rotted internally by insects.

Clogging of a drain by wind-driven hail, leaves and dirt caused flooding of part of the library floor.

Miss Laura Bannon, who will instruct this course, lasting from June 8 to June 19, will bring many interesting pieces from the Chicago Art Institute, for the convenience of students enrolled in her class here at Omaha University.

In addition to this two-weeks course, Miss Bannon will assist Miss Edith Bennett of the Omaha Public Schools in conducting the first two weeks of the course in "Progressive Methods in Teaching Art."

Miss Bannon brings with her an impressive record from Chicago, where she is actively engaged in creative art work as well as being a member of the Art Institute teaching staff. Her course at the University of Omaha is designed for artists, supervisors, teachers and students of art.

Introducing President Rowland Haynes of the Municipal University of Omaha, who will be remembered by posterity for his sponsorship of the Omaha Work-Study Plan—a worthy enterprise, a worthy man.

Bookstore Status To Be Published

Periodical reports of the financial status of the bookstore and a profit fund of the purpose of reducing book prices were two of the accomplishments resulting from the investigation of the bookstore, instigated by The Gateway, according to a statement issued by President Haynes Wednesday.

Condensed reports will be published in The Gateway several times yearly in order that "all people who use the bookstore shall understand its policies and its method of management," the statement read.

With regard to the price of books, it is planned to establish an arrangement whereby, when the profits amount to a certain sum, the book prices will be reduced.

Mr. Cranshaw, bursar, will retain control of the management.

"Wanted—room by girl 16 feet square, dry, and airy. Apply Box 356."

And then there are girls who let a fool kiss them, while others let a kiss fool them.

Minnesota Students Use Sulphate Pills; Aid In Cramming

Minneapolis, Minn.—(ACP)—Black coffee or caffeine tablets, ammonia cokes, cigarettes, cold showers and the other common devices used by students in the throes of exam periods are no longer countenanced by University of Minnesota students and faculty members. Instead, they wave the banner for benzedrine sulphate tablets.

Although members of the pharmacology department and doctors of the student health department advised against the use of the new "anti-fatigue" pills—they were put on the market only a few months ago—the rush continued unabated.

Chief objection to the drug, which users claim will prevent fatigue for about six hours without any resultant depression, is that its exact effects are not yet known. University of Minnesota scientists are engaged in research in the attempt to discover if benzedrine sulphate is a habit-forming or destructive to body tissues, but meanwhile, their colleagues and students go right on taking it. One Minneapolis drug company reported the sale of 1,000 tablets within a week.

Rehearsal for the commencement exercises will be held at the Central High School auditorium at 10 a. m., June 4, for graduates, ushers, marshals, and division leaders.

BOOK BY "FUTURE VETS"

(ACP)—A week before the Washington booksellers advertised it, Congressman Maury Maverick had "Patriotism Prepaid," first opus of Lewis J. Gorin, Commander of the Veterans of Future Wars, on his office desk. The Veterans are working with Maverick more than with any other Congressman. Badly wounded in the World War, he is in complete agreement with them in their antipathy to militarism.

"Father Divine" Is Friend of Students

(ACP)—Father Divine "likes to have college people visit him"—or so he told a reporter from the Princeton paper who tried to get an interview from the son of heaven in his New York sanctum sanctorum.

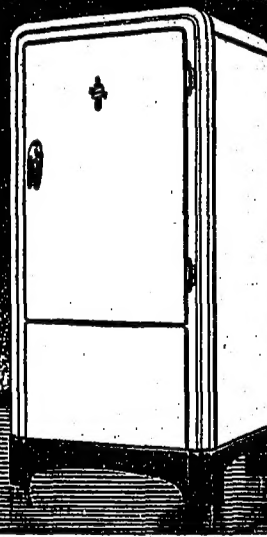

"But—" said the Father, "Too many people come snooping around here and then go away and write up wrong things. Be sure you print the facts."

The Father seemed proud of the fact that just the night before, a delegation had come from Smith college.

Year's Summary: President Haynes Selected: Work-Study Plan Begun

The past year has been one filled with student activities and advancement made by the University.

Under the able leadership of President Rowland Haynes, selected by the board of regents last fall, the University seems to have prospects of a new campus and buildings.

Other administration changes included the appointment of Lloyd M. Bradfield, as Dean of Men, and the addition of three new professors, Dr. A. Dayle Wallace, Professor Harry Severson, and Professor Dayton E. Heckman.

The next big development was the approval and introduction of the work-study plan here at the University. Already one student is working at a downtown bank. Under the direction of J. E. Woods Omaha firms are to hire two upperclass students for each job they provide. The two alternate six months of study with six months of work.

Homecoming Day and Maie Day were the two outstanding programs of the year. These two days showed the increased school spirit present on the campus. Princess Elmer Johnson resigned over Homecoming Day. A mile-long parade in the morning, and the satisfactory scalping of Peru by a 30-0 score made the day a success.

Maie Festival drew the largest crowd to a school affair in the University's history. Nearly 700 attended the all-day affair Thursday, May 14, featuring a 15-act show and a dance. The haybs' candidate, Elaine Coulter, '36, successfully took the election from the sorority co-eds to become Princess Attira II.

For the first time since 1929 a yearbook, later entitled the "Tomahawk," was decided on. Miss Ellen Hartman, former Gateway editor, was selected as the editor of the annual.

The University received athletic recognition in the North Central association when Leo Pearey and Harold Johnk were selected for the N. C. all-star football team. They were also picked for the N. I. A. A. all-star team along with Howard Sorensen and Noel King.

Six students were chosen for the Collegiate Who's Who by the student council last fall. They were: Dorothy Anderson, senior class vice-president; Ellen Hartman, Gateway editor; Bernice Perimeter, debater; John Moucka, senior class president; Kenneth Turner, student council president; and Kenneth Hargrove, Pan-Hellenic president.

Among the important happenings on the campus one must not forget the light touch given by the April Fool's edition of The Gateway. Six colored pages of humor rather lightened the burden of ordinarily harassed editors.

Three art department exhibits and teas were held during the year under the direction of Dr. Berthe Koch. The Kappa Psi Delta sorority debaters, defeated the Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity team March 27, to win the intramural debate tournament sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic council.

The Charm School, first of its kind at Omaha University, was a big success and promises to become an annual event. Sponsored by the W. A. A., Amy Rohacek was chairman of the committee.

The Bookstore Query, instigated by The Gateway, resulted in a new plan of operation to enable students to receive benefits of profits in the form of reduced prices.

Plan To Register Freshmen Early

On Tuesday, September 8, the psychology and English tests will be given.

Wednesday, a freshman day program is planned to introduce them to the University.

Freshman registration will take place on Thursday.

Good Lecturer; Feeds Audience

(ACP)—A picture is worth a thousand words, and the real article itself is worth a thousand pictures, believes young Horace Sainsbury, member of a speech class at the University of Washington.

The class was to prepare speeches explaining how various mechanical gadgets worked. Horace was to explain a corn popper. He did. He produced his electric popper, plugged in the wire, popped some corn, buttered it and served it to the class. They understood perfectly.

Minor Sports Lag; Halt Game Meets

Omaha University's golf and tennis teams were unable to organize this year because of the delay in playing off the tournament schedule. The finals in both of these sports have not been completed to date, and for this reason it was impossible to pick teams for competition.

In the tennis tournament Joe Barker is to play Ed Stowe for the semi-finals and the winner is to meet Prentice Wendland for championship.

The golf championship is to be decided between Ed Olsen and Bob Anthes. Hartman urges these contestants to complete their matches this week end.
